W. I. News

The regular monthly meeting of the W. I. was held on Friday, February 12th, at the Legion Hall with President Mrs. F. Hall presiding, meeting opened with members singing "My Old Kentucky Home", followed by Creed led by Mrs. M. Allred.

Roll call was a cash donation to the Polio Fund, and 18 members responded.

Our program was a talk on Education, given by Dean Rolfsen. He stated that every citizen should be vitally interested in education, as taught in public and high schools, from the standpoint as parents, grandparents, and tax payers.

Education should, be effective, make good citizens out of students, teach them think, and should develop leadership.

There is much criticism from different sources today, regarding present methods of teaching in schools, and there are some trends back to the older methods. In closing, Mr. Rolfsen stated that if more concentration was put on the subject matters, we can develop a culture which may be Canadian.

A musical number "The Butterfly", was played by Mrs. R. Tollestrup, and much enjoyed.

Mrs. W. W. McMullen was chosen as delegate to the W. I. convention in Calgary, on March 8th and 9th.

This year, it was decided to have all our meetings in the Legion Hall. Birthday gifts were received from Mrs. R. Holland, 2 crocheted pot holders, and a crocheted hot pad, and auctioned for $1.70, and Mrs. Rolfsen donated a refrigerator dish, which auctioned for .70¢.

Mrs. S. Donaldson, has donated a quantity of quilt blocks to be made into a quilt, for whatever purpose we wish.

Mrs. Greep won the door prize a cup and saucer.

After adjournment lunch was served by hostesses, Mr. W. Lamb, Mrs. Woolford, and Mrs. I. Kitchen.

Catholic Womens League Formed At Sacred Heart

Some 20 ladies under the guidance of Father Marion gathered at the Sacred Heart Rectory on February 8 for the purpose of organizing a Catholic Womens League. The following executive was installed, President Mrs. Joe Flexhaug; Vice-President Mrs. Vince Gaszler; Secretary Mrs. Frank Rabusic; Treasurer Mrs. Val Grbavac. A fowl supper was planned for March 17, to be held in the Church basement. The next meeting will be held March 4th, at the rectory.

Twelve member of Busy Bee Club met Wednesday February 17, at the home of Mrs. Wayne Phillips with Mrs. Annie Adams acting as hostess. The first part of the evening was spent quilting. Contest games were enjoyed with Betty Williams winning the 1st prize and Dorothy Lybbert the low prize. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Local Credit Union Wins High Honor

Friday night February 2, the members of Raymond Sugar Makers Saving and Credit Union entertained their partners, the guests were greeted by Cliff Nalder and Joe Strong. The evening really got under way when about 115 people sat down to enjoy a lovely turkey supper, with all the trimmings. The catering was done by the ladies of 2nd Ward primary.

Following the supper the following program was enjoyed. Kay Redd with a joke about everyone, was the M. C. Maxine and Grace sang two number accompanied by Tom King and Duane Howard on their guitars; Cliff Nalder spoke briefly about the credit union. he said he had received a circular stating that the Raymond Sugar Makers Saving and Credit Union Ltd., had received a 100% rating from the province Supervisor Office. This is the first and only time any credit union has had this rating. This honor was achieved by the co-operation of all the committees. Jack Kenny is president of the union with George McMaughn as vice president. Secretary — Kay Redd, Treasurer — Cliff Nalder, who has held this position since the credit union was organized 14 years ago. There is also a credit committee of three men who pass on all loans and a Supervisory Committee of three that audits the books every month, there are also 5 directors. Frank Taylor was the next speaker and he congratulated the credit union for the honor they had received and encouraged all members to support the union. Jeanine Jensen sang two solos accompanied by Joe Strong, Darwin Oler did a song and dance number and also a tap dance. Duane Howard and Tom King played two numbers on their guitars and Leonard Watson led a couple of parlor games. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing.

On February 17, the Zone Social was held at Cardston. Rayo as Zone Chairman and Helde Karaki, President of the Raymond Club, took a group of enthusiastic visitors to the Temple Town. Scotty took her Japanese Dancing Girls, and our own Jake the Goose Boss went along to spike the program. The numbers were both very well received, big hits. There were thirty one in the Raymond group. The party was a huge success. Boy, what a turkey supper!

Legion Theatre Night Aids Polio Fund

A large crowd attended the Canadian Legion "Theatre Night" put on at the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday February 17, with the proceeds going to aid the Polio fund. The show "We're Not Married" together with Selected Shorts was featured. In addition some excellent amateur talent from Lethbridge was enjoyed. A mother and daughter act by Mrs. Conn and Marlon Mrs. Conn and her daughter Marlon, with Mrs. Conn playing cornet and piano at the same time, she then accompanied Marlon for a cornet solo, their third number was a cornet duet, with Mrs. Conn again playing piano at the same time.

The next number was given by Dixie Wilmont who gave a splendid display of Acrobatic Dancing and the concluding number was given by Mrs. A. W. Stringham, who played selections on her educated saw with Mrs. Emma Dahl as accompanist. The Legion would like publicly to thank Lee Brewerton for his courtesy in permitting the use of the theatre and for his help. They would also like to thank the people who came out from Lethbridge and donated their time and talent for the polio show. Harris Hall, Chairman of the Campaign Committee put in a lot of work to make the show a success and was ably assisted by his committee.

4H Beef Club Notes

A meeting will be held for the Raymond 4-H Beef Club at Murray Hollis the second Wednesday in March. Films are going to be shown. A light lunch will be served to the members. A special talk by Max Holt, will conclude the evening.

The last meeting held on 13 of February was enjoyed by all who attended. John Galbraith led the 4-H pledge after which Mr. Edwards gave a short talk. Later Mr. Edwards showed two films entitled "Ticket to Jasper" and "Showmanship." The meeting was adjourned by Robert Holt.

Jeanette Stetar

GREEP'S ELECTRIC

FREE MAN

By Bess Leeke

AS the gates closed behind him, Chuck thought of the warden's words to him, "Good luck, Saunders. I hope, for your sake, we don't see you here again."

The warden shook his hand then, because he was a good guy, gave Chuck a slip of paper bearing a name and address.

"I've got a friend," he said. "Who was here once. Now he's got a ranch up in the northern part of the state. I'm sure he'll give you a job."

Chuck had stuffed the paper in his pocket, but he knew he'd never get to that ranch. What he had in mind would land him right back here.

It was fifty miles from the state prison to Hanson, his home town. Those miles gave him time to think. He had had ten years to think. That was a big slice out of any man's life. He had been twenty when he went in; now he was thirty. Because he was just a kid at the time, they gave him fifteen years with time off for good behavior.

When the verdict came in, he had wanted to curse them because they were too dumb to see the truth. But they weren't the ones who were really to blame. When you were behind the wheel, stinking of cheap whiskey and out like a light and the guy in the street was dead, you were guilty. Nobody believed there had been two people in the car and that the other guy was driving.

He'd never forget that night he and Tom drove out to the road house and started home again after Tom bought the pint of whiskey.

They hadn't gone three miles when it happened. Tom had raised the bottle for a drink and hadn't seen the man step out into the street. He had yelled at Tom, but not in time.

When he came to, smelling like a brewery, he was slumped over the wheel. Tom had stayed just long enough to pull him over and pour on the whiskey. All during the trial, Tom claimed Chuck had taken the car and left him at the road house, that he wasn't in the car. They believed him.

Well, he'd served his time now. He had counted every minute until he could get back to Hanson and Tom. He knew when he got through with Tom he'd be right back in prison, but this time he'd be paying for something he did, not taking the rap for somebody else.

The town hadn't changed much, a little older was all. He left his bag at the station. It would be handy to pick up when he started back. In a phone booth he thumbed through the directory until he found the name Tomas Denton and the address, 412 Fuller Drive.

He walked from the station and out the dark streets to Fuller Drive with his big houses, clipped hedges and green lawns.

Chuck felt as conspicuous on the porch of this house as a work horse would feel in the Kentucky Derby, but he had the advantage. Tom's borrowed time had run out.

"Yes, sir?" a woman in a maid's uniform asked from the doorway.

"Tom Denton, please," Chuck said.

The woman stepped back and the light in the hall fell on her face, showing a look of distress.

"We're friends," Chuck explained, "Tell him Chuck Saunders, he'll know who it is."

The woman looked as if she might cry. "I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Saunders. It was such a shock to us. Mr. Denton died day before yesterday—a heart attack. He was buried this afternoon. I'll tell Mrs. Denton you're here."

Dead. He couldn't believe it. He'd waited ten years for this moment and now ironically, it had been snatched from him. You couldn't kill a man who was dead already.

"Thanks, no," he backed away and hurried down the steps.

Going down the walk with his hands in his pockets he felt the slip of paper with an address on it. Let 'em be shocked, he thought, and he started whistling as he walked down Fuller Drive.

ON CANADIAN ROADS!

Every fifteen minutes, a Canadian suffers serious injury in a traffic accident. Every four hours a life is lost. Every two minutes a fender is smashed.

Insurance cannot restore life or mitigate pain. All it can do is relieve the financial burden of disaster. Even then, the bill comes high.

Seminary Saint's Tourney

On Saturday February 27, the Junior High School Seminary team will hold their annual basketball tournament in the Opera House at 1:30 in the finals at 7:30 at night.

Competitors for a trophy which for the last three years has been won by the local squads will be on hand from Cardston, Magrath and St. Mary's Indian School. These Indian lads are a snappy bunch of ball players and should put on a good show. The admission is 50¢ for adults while students get in for two bits. Following the final game the trophy will be presented to the winners. The evening will wind up with a dance. Come out and support your team and you won't be disappointed in the brand of ball which you will witness.

Jacks Click for Victory in Magrath

Only a slim two points separated the Union Jacks from the win and loss column in Magrath as the two teams played down to the wire in an all out effort to salvage a victory. Al West's 24 points was the main cause for the 71-69 triumph. He was helped out by team-mates Stevenson and West who connected for 14 and 12 respectively.

For the losers the Alston brothers played the leading roles as they canned 17 and 16 each. They were followed by Blair Sabey and Jim Matkin who hit the hemp for 11 points apiece.

In the first quarter Magrath got off on the right foot by clipping through the first ten minutes with out trouble and ended up atop a 14-11 score. In the second canto they also out pointed Raymond 19-18 for a half time bulge of 33 to 29. The third stanza was Magrath's downfall as the Jacks hit a blistering pace and walloped their hosts 27-20 which ran the thirty minute score to 57-53 for Raymond.

The lead was just a little bit too tight for the Rockets to snap although they fought back to within two points of hitting the best end of the score, Raymond ended up on top to move two points behind the League-leading University of Alberta Golden Bears.

Perhaps you live in a one-room apartment. The spirit of Christmas tugs at your heartstrings. You'd love to invite in two or three friends for dinner.

Don't hesitate—go right to the telephone and do it. Here's a fabulous menu which can easily be prepared in the smallest of kitchenettes in just an hour and a half.

5-Course Christmas Dinner

Grapefruit Filled with Frozen Strawberries
Escalloped Oysters
Cranberry Sauce
Roast Squab Chicken
Sautéed Mushrooms
Browned Canned Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Frozen Peas
Tossed Tomato and Lettuce Salad
Plum Pudding (canned) with Ice Cream
Coffee

Preparation Schedule: Set the table. Stuff chicken and start to roast. Prepare and chill grapefruit and salad, ready to toss. Put can of plum pudding to heat in boiling water. Prepare and bake oysters. Brown canned sweet potatoes; cook peas and heat in cream. Toss salad. Start coffee. Serve dinner.

All Measurements Are Level
Recipes Serve Four
Escalloped Oysters
You will need 1 pt. oysters, 1 tsp. minced parsley, 2 tbsp. minced celery, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. paprika,

2 c. soft enriched breadcrumbs, 1 tsp. butter, 1 c. cream or rich milk, and ¼ c. dry crumbs mixed with 1 tsp. melted butter.

Rub 4 small individual baking dishes with butter or margarine; line with a thin layer of the soft crumbs. Put in a single layer of the oysters; then sprinkle with half the minced parsley, celery, salt and paprika; dot with half the butter. Spoon in half the soft breadcrumbs. Then repeat. Pour in the cream or milk. Cover with the buttered dry crumbs; bake 25-30 min. in a moderate oven, 375° F. Garnish with pimiento strips and parsley.

Roast Squab Chicken
Order 4 squab chickens (each weighing from 1 to 1½ lbs.) cleaned and dressed for roasting. Remove any pin feathers. Wash, dry and stuff with packaged bread stuffing prepared according to directions. Fasten the vents with toothpicks. Rub the chickens all over with ¼ c. margarine and ¼ c. enriched flour blended with ¼ tsp. pepper and 1½ tsp. salt.

Place, not touching each other, in a well-buttered casserole or heavy pan. Cover closely. Roast 1½ hrs., starting at 375° F. In 20 min. reduce the heat to 350° F. Turn twice to insure even browning. Serve one bird to a person with sautéed mushrooms.

Suggestion of the Chef
Serve roast squab chicken on thin slices broiled ham. Très elegant!
